The payment process plays a unique and sometimes challenging role for law firms in the immigration space. For instance, immigration law practitioners can often struggle to manage payment plans that span years due to the financial circumstances of their clients. Spending time manually tracking the status of these payments significantly hampers the ability to efficiently serve clients — but LollyLaw's in-house payments solution is here to provide a much-needed upgrade for immigration attorneys.

Today, we are thrilled to introduce LollyPayments! Our fully native payments processing feature is now live and allows you to efficiently and compliantly accept and track payments directly in your LollyLaw account. Now with LollyLaw, you can offer a secure and convenient payment option to your clients, and easily keep track of all payment statuses in one place.
